When you need the latest medical information — FAST! — look to the professional librarians of the Health Sciences Library Association of New Jersey for expert assistance.

The Health Sciences Library Association of New Jersey (HSLANJ) is a statewide nonprofit organization founded in 1972 and affiliated with the New Jersey Hospital Association. HSLANJ is dedicated to the promotion and distribution of health information to clinicians, consumers, and patients throughout New Jersey. Our members include professional librarians, individuals, and institutions involved in the health and life sciences fields.

We Help a Variety of Information Seekers

HSLANJ members link you with health information from a variety of sources, in whatever format you require, whenever you need it.

We serve clinicians, doctors, nurses, patients, researchers, educators, administrators, medical, nursing, and allied health students, allied health professionals, hospital and health facility staff, and the general public.

We Have Special Skills and Expertise

Whether you need a medical journal reprint, prescription drug safety data, consumer health resources or clinical trial updates, the library professionals of HSLANJ are specially trained to help. We offer:

- Access to a vast array of clinical and non-clinical resources, both print and online, assuring answers to all your questions
- Advanced analytical skills, to connect your information needs with the most appropriate resources
- Information filtering and delivery expertise, to help you save time and money
- Expert investigation skills, to ensure the quality, accuracy and timeliness of our research efforts.

We Put Information at Your Fingertips

Health sciences librarians are your information partners. In addition to having the most comprehensive online and print resources from major professional associations, government agencies, listservs, and medical libraries at our fingertips, we can:

- Filter research results for quality and accuracy
- Provide information that helps you:
 - deliver quality patient care
 - avoid errors
 - solve problems
 - avoid litigation
 - save money and time
- Access resources to help you make informed decisions about your health care
- Teach you how to use computers, the Internet, and information resources to find the facts or research you need
- Help develop print or digital photo collections for presentations, papers, and other special projects
- Provide outreach services to the community delivering consumer health, wellness and disease-specific resources, Web sites, links, special collections and reference services.
